

JIC Venture Growth Investments has invested in Sharing Energy Co., Ltd., a company providing third-party ownership services, which has contributed the decarbonized society.

April 8th, 2022

JIC Venture Growth Investments (VGI) has acquired the shares in Sharing Energy Co., Ltd. (Sharing Energy), a company providing third-party ownership services, through its JIC Venture Growth Fund 1 (VGF1).

Sharing Energy is creating distributed energy resources for a decarbonized society by providing third-party ownership services for residential PV systems called "SHARE DENKI". "SHARE DENKI" is promoting the optimal installation of solar power generation systems on the diversified rooftops across Japan.

VGI accelerates the local production and self-consumption of solar energy by promoting the installation of PV systems and storage batteries through Sharing Energy's services.

Sharing Energy has diverse network of builders, contractors, suppliers and installers in Japan, by which contributes to the expansion of solar power generation.

With this financing, Sharing Energy will expand its business and drive the market for third-party ownership services, thereby VGI contributes the decarbonization for residential through the creation of distributed energy resources.
